Internet is a Blessing to the Modern World

The Internet sometimes cored the "NET", is a worldwine system of a computer network s network of networks in which users at any time can get information, includes several high-bandwidth data lines that comprise the backbone. It allows people to improve the quality of their life. It is now easier than ever to access Internet.

Considering the benefits the internet is that young people can do research for their schoolwork and homework. This helps teenagers to widen their knowledge and improve their grades. Another benefit is that people can practice foreign languages by chatting to friends in other countries.

In the present, a lot of people need the information from internet Google and Yahoo which are search engines which provide all kinds of topics. For example, today many people are watching or downloading free entertainment on internet. In fact this internet is for many schools and universities that are now able to assign projects and work to the students and follow their progress which can be easily posted on the school or university internet websites. Online education has grown at a very fast pace since internet allows the development and uses of innovative tools for imparting education. However, for all its advantages and positive aspects, the internet has its dark and ugly side too. Another problem or disadvantage of the internet is that it has allowed a great deal of anonymity to a large number of people who may access the different websites, forums and chat rooms available. This has allowed perverted individuals to at times take advantage of innocent people and abuse their trust. Lastly, we have to take the responsibility to guide our children to use internet wisely and ensure them to get right information from internet.
